

Autoinjectors provide extra comfort

You have already read about the advantages of an automated injection. Specially designed medical devices such as the autoinjectors Betaject comfort® and Betaject light® facilitate easy and convenient self administration and have proven their usefulness in reducing injection site reactions, providing extra comfort and the benefit of the latest technology.